	ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES
Primary position objective	Working closely with the Clinical Services Manager and Team Leaders, the purpose of the Practice Facilitator position is to strengthen the skills and knowledge of practitioners across the organisation and the sector and to build a service delivery culture that meets best practice and integrates findings from international research and clinical practice. The Practice Facilitator position will also design and deliver high quality practice development and professional learning programs within STTARS and also externally to build the skills and capacity of mainstream services to appropriately respond to and care for refugee clients and survivors of torture and trauma.
RESPONSIBILITIES	MAJOR DELIVERABLES	ACHIEVEMENT DEMONSTRATED BY:
Practice Supervision and Consultation	Work collaboratively with the Clinical Services Manager and Team Leaders to ensure best practice in services delivery across STTARS programs.	Practitioners within STTARS engage in critical reflection to continuously learn and improve.
	Provide practice supervision, advice, and coaching to practitioners based on sound practice expertise and STTARS service model to support the delivery of effective interventions to clients.	Practitioners confidently support clients who are living with complex needs or who may be at risk.
	Provide individual and group reflective practice supervision to practitioners using a reflective and evidence informed approach to ensure that work with clients is in line with best practice and STTARS model. (In addition to supervision provided by Team Leaders)	Practice quality issues are routinely identified and addressed.
	Provide advice, consultation and support to practitioners working with high risk, complex and/or sensitive cases.

	Support staff development in consultation with line managers. Identify practice quality issues for development and training opportunities.
Professional Development	Work collaboratively with the Clinical Services Manager and Team Leaders to identify and co- develop the internal training program and resources. Contribute to the development and delivery of professional development to practitioners based on STTARS model and emerging international best practice. Provide high quality professional learning sessions to practitioners. Provide information and literature to practitioners that can contribute to improvements in their practice. Lead the development of content and resources to support the delivery of training within STTARS and for external stakeholders. Provide training on behalf of STTARS as part of our work in building the capacity of the service sector to respond to the needs of people from refugee backgrounds and survivors of torture in particular. Take responsibility for your own development, and engage in professional development and supervision to continue to develop as a leader in the field.	Resources developed and shared to strengthen practice across STTARS. Relevant and appropriate training on best practice is routinely delivered to practitioners within STTARS. Training and professional development address issues/themes that have been identified through practice supervision and consultation. Best practice is embedded in processes, systems and reflective practice activities. STTARS meets contractual requirements regarding the delivery of external training stakeholders.
Administration & Reporting	Maintain all administrative requirements, records, and notes in accordance with required agency standards and contractual requirements in a timely and efficient manner. Provide training and support to practitioners within STTARS to ensure client files and other data requirements are in line with agency standards and contractual requirements. Produce reports appropriate to funding requirements and for monitoring processes. Develop and maintain effective administrative systems and processes. Report to management on legal, ethical and risk related issues in relation to practice.	STTARS record keeping and data collection is in line with agency standards and is meeting contractual requirements. Administrative systems and processes relating to clinical work are effective and enable practitioners to do their jobs as efficiently as possible. High quality reports are produced within the timeframes set by funding bodies.
